Celebrate all things spring

P6 - 7

Mayor CLAIRE BOAN

Greetings and welcome to the Spring edition of PAE Today. As always, this issue is jam-packed with news, along with plenty of suggestions for things to see and do in PAE this Spring – and don't forget to turn to p. 9 for our regular seasonal recipe.

This issue we're launching our Community Noticeboard, a space for local not-for-profit and community organisations to share news and updates. Turn to p. 13 for our Spring notices, or see our website for details on how to contribute an item next issue. It's hard to believe that Yitpi Yartapuultiku, the new Aboriginal Cultural Centre in Port Adelaide, has now been open for three months. We've received so much positive feedback, with people commenting on the natural beauty of the outdoor space as well as the opportunities for learning and connection. With art exhibitions, walking trails, a retail space and a café it's the perfect place to explore in Spring. Meanwhile we continue with many other projects, including upgrading our community sports facilities, developing a new Inclusive Communities Plan and working on the detailed design of the Semaphore Foreshore upgrade. Each financial year, we plan for all the major projects we anticipate working on for the next 12-month period, and in some cases for the years to come. Our current Annual Business Plan (ABP), which outlines how we plan to use our resources in 2025–26, was adopted in June, along with the Long Term Financial Plan 2026–35. Later in the year, we'll publish our Annual Report, which circles back to the previous year's ABP to let you know how well we did.

As Mayor, I love hearing your ideas, thoughts and input. There are several ways you can reach out, from coming along to a street corner meeting to dropping in for a coffee once a month at the Port Plaza. There's also our Community Conversations program – check Participate PAE for dates and times.

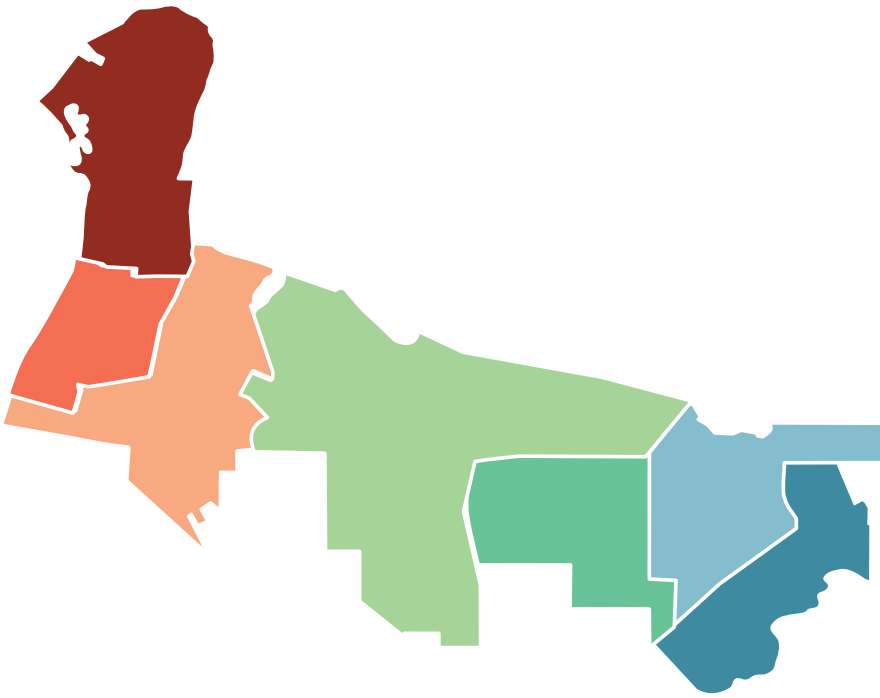

However you plan to spend your Spring, I hope your days are filled with sunshine and I look forward to seeing you around PAE soon.

SOUL OF PORT ADELAIDE

OPENING YITPI YARTAPUULTIKU

Yitpi Yartapuultiku, the Aboriginal Cultural Centre in the heart of Port Adelaide, officially opened its doors on Sunday 1 June. In the three months since its opening, we've been thrilled to welcome lots of visitors. While parts of the Centre are still evolving, there's already a mix of things to do and see, including art exhibitions, self-guided trails, nature play spaces, immersive learning spaces, a retail space selling products by First Nations peoples and a café staffed by locals.

Coming soon, there'll be guided tours as well as spaces to hire for meetings, functions and conferences. Check out our website and socials for updates about everything we're planning and doing at Yitpi Yartapuultiku.

 We welcome everyone to walk with us, to learn from this land and its First Peoples, and to help carry our culture forward with strength and unity.

– Uncle Lewis O'Brien and Aunty Pat Waria-Read (Aboriginal Elders and contributors to Yitpi Yartapuultiku's co-led design)

LOOK UP, LOOK DOWN

Collect a trail map from the Welcome Desk and follow the signs along the interpretive trail. These signs, developed with the input of Kurna Elders, artists and community members, share Kurna stories, cultural practices and knowledge. Learn about the Tjilbruke creation journey; the stars, seasons and constellations; tools, trade and ceremony; and plants, animals and healing Country. Don't forget to look at the artwork, too. There are hanging pieces, sculptures, façade designs and more.

ABOUT THE SITE

Yitpi Yartapuultiku embodies a vision of Nguyanguya Muri (shared healing and cultural resurgence). Decades in the making, it was developed in collaboration with Kurna Custodians, the Yitpi Yartapuultiku Aboriginal Working Group, City of PAE, Ashley Halliday Architects and WAX design. It is, in the words of Mayor Claire Boan, 'a place for everyone to come together to share life with one another'.

TREAD LIGHTLY

It looks like a beach ... but it's not! Pari Witungka, the living shoreline, has been planted with mangrove seeds to return the river edge to its natural state. Did you know that mangroves are an important part of the ecosystem? As well as being a source of food to native animals like birds, reptiles and molluscs, mangroves also play a vital role in preventing coastal erosion by absorbing the energy of wave action and creating a natural breakwater. So while you're exploring this area and its surrounds, remember to tread carefully and respect signage – and know that you're helping Yitpi Yartapuultiku on its journey towards healing the land.

CELEBRATING OUR TREES

At PAE, we look after nearly 100,000 trees in our streets and parks. Each tree has an essential role in making our city beautiful and keeping people healthy.

Big trees offer especially important benefits. Their large canopies provide extensive shade, significantly cooling streets, homes and public spaces, and can reduce energy use by up to 10%. In one year, a single mature tree can absorb up to 21kg of carbon dioxide and release enough oxygen into the atmosphere to support two people.

At PAE, we run a proactive tree pruning program to keep our street trees healthy, reduce hazards and prevent costly emergency work. For more information about how, when and why we prune our trees, see our website.

Some benefits of trees include:

- Trees cool our streets on hot days, which is especially important in South Australia's hot, dry summers
- Trees improve our air quality by filtering pollutants and producing oxygen
- Trees help us manage stormwater, slowing down rainfall through their canopies and improving soil infiltration through their root systems, which helps to prevent storm-related flooding
- Trees improve our health and wellbeing by providing pleasant, shady spaces
- Trees provide a habitat for biodiversity by offering food and homes for native animals
- Trees increase property values, with real estate prices trending higher in greener neighbourhoods
- Trees reduce the effects of climate change by absorbing carbon dioxide from the atmosphere

FUN FACTS

Studies show that tree-lined streets are safer, with fewer car accidents, perhaps because drivers feel calmer and drive more slowly in the presence of trees. Trees also provide a physical barrier between the road and the footpath, creating a safe, leafy passageway for pedestrians.

Trees communicate with each other through underground fungal networks, sharing nutrients, sending warning signals about pests and supporting younger or weaker trees.

HOW GREEN IS YOUR GARDEN?

On Sunday 22 June, we held a Community Planting Day at Reg Robinson Reserve in Mansfield Park, with participants enjoying the chance to get their hands dirty – all in the name of a good cause.

‘We walk our dog around this park every day,’ says Dev,

‘and now we will get to see the plants grow.’ There were also free plants for participants to take home to plant in their own garden, along with growing advice from members of Trees for Life and PAE’s Environment team. So, while the planting season is almost over for this year, the fruits of these efforts will be there for everyone to enjoy for years to come!

GREEN GOODNESS

There’s nothing like eating home-grown produce, as the people at Greenacres Community Garden can attest.

Established in 2018 with the help of a State Government grant and a peppercorn lease from PAE, the garden now has 38 plots available for lease to members, along with an orchard, flower gardens, vines, a herb garden and an area for South Australian native trees, shrubs and grasses.

All produce in the garden is grown organically by locals and volunteers, with excess fruits and vegetables donated to members or to charity. As the only community garden on the eastern side of PAE, the group aims to provide a welcoming community space where people and plants can thrive.

Kathy, a member, says, ‘I feel welcomed in a friendly, supportive group to grow my own veg to share, gaining new skills and knowledge.’ Ursula, a friend of the garden, adds, ‘Being connected to nature and my local community has helped with my rehabilitation after a prolonged illness.’

Volunteers and new members are welcome, with membership starting at $45 – or come along to the Early Spring Fair on Sunday 21 September from 10am to 1pm (sausage sizzle included!).

To arrange a visit, email greenacrescommunitygarden@gmail.com or find them on Facebook.

COMMUNITY WELLBEING AT LEFEVRE

Have you been to the wellbeing precinct at Lefevre? It was developed from ideas that residents provided during a community engagement in 2023 and launched in partnership with Preventive Health SA, to enhance residents' wellbeing through a range of community programs and services. And what a year it's been! In the last 12 months, the precinct, in collaboration with more than 55 partners, has delivered 25 programs reaching 3,000+ people, including young families, children and youth, and people aged 50+. Programs include a community playgroup, fitness and exercise sessions, nature play sessions, Open Kitchen food education workshops, a free sports equipment library, art and craft groups – and more. Feedback from participants has been overwhelmingly positive, with one mother describing attendance at a come & try bike riding session as 'life changing' for her son. All programs aim to help people connect, eat well, be active, learn and share. For more information, contact the Lefevre Community and Sports Centre on ☎ 8405 6908 or at ✉ lefevre_sports@cityofpae.sa.gov.au

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

Congratulations to the two winners of our 2025–26 Aboriginal Tertiary Education Scholarship. India Bament-Sitkowski and Jack Agius received their awards at a special event hosted by PAE and the Aboriginal Advisory Panel.

India Bament-Sitkowski, 19, is enrolled in a Bachelor of Primary Education (Honours) and wants to use her qualification to teach First Nations students in PAE.

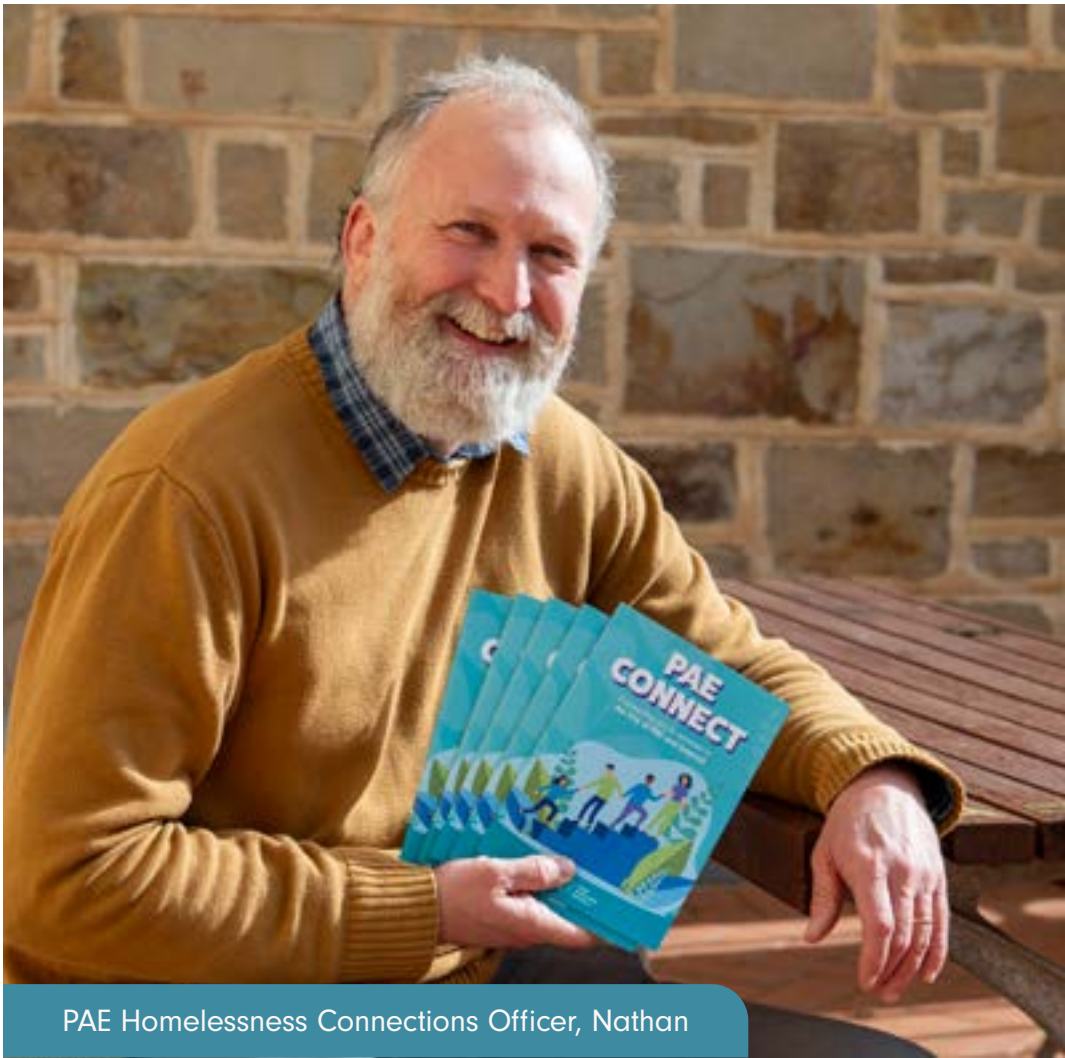

Jack Agius, 19, who is enrolled in a Bachelor of Secondary Education, is especially interested in working in outdoor education.

Both India and Jack are passionate about connecting with and sharing culture. We wish them the best of luck in their studies and look forward to seeing them in our schools one day soon!

SILVER MEDAL, GOLD COAST

Congratulations to local athletes Miller Walsh and Archie Nguyen, who returned home recently from the Gold Coast as volleyball champions, with their team winning a silver medal in the Australian Youth Beach Volleyball Championships. The highly competitive championships are the premier youth volleyball competition nationally. Says Archie's proud mum Han Ha, 'Archie and team won silver for the under 15 boys' division, just missing out on the gold in a very tight three-sets match.'

Miller and Archie received funding to travel to the championships through PAE's community grant program, which is all about supporting people to bring their ideas and dreams to life while fostering stronger community bonds.

PAE Homelessness Connections Officer, Nathan

CONNECTION SERVICES

As rates of homelessness increase, we remain concerned about people falling through the cracks. To address this in PAE, we're continuing to collaborate through the Zero Project with the State Government, Adelaide North West Homelessness Alliance and the South Australian Alliance to End Homelessness to work towards ending rough sleeping and homelessness across our community. Our Homelessness Connections Officer is also available to support people to connect to the services they need. If you'd like to know more, call us on ☎ 8405 6600 or visit our website.

ANNUAL BUSINESS PLAN

Each year we deliver our Annual Business Plan (ABP), which details the activities and projects that we'll deliver over the next financial year. Thanks to everyone who contributed feedback to help us develop this year's ABP, which incorporates the goals of our City Vision to create a thriving community, develop a prosperous economy, establish a clean and green city, and make places for people. With lots of things planned, we'll continue to engage and involve you over the course of this year – and into the future. You can read the ABP in full or access a summary on our website.

DID YOU KNOW?

In this series, we provide tips and answers to questions that people commonly contact us about.

IS IT REALLY ABANDONED?

What should you do if you notice a car that's been parked in your street for a few days and you think it might be abandoned?

If you said, 'Call the council to arrange a tow', that's understandable – but it's not necessarily correct. There may be several acceptable reasons why someone leaves their car parked on the street for an extended period. In addition, we won't tow any vehicle until we've exhausted all avenues for contacting the owner first.

So what is an abandoned vehicle? It's a vehicle that someone has left in the street which remains unclaimed by the registered (or last known registered) owner. In other words, if the owner lives nearby, and the vehicle is parked legally, it's not considered abandoned.

It's important to know that if a vehicle is registered and parked legally, it can be parked in the street for any amount of time. However, we recommend that vehicle owners only keep vehicles on the road if they're using them regularly and don't use the road for storing vehicles. To find out whether a vehicle is registered, simply check its registration status through the State Government's website, EzyReg.

Our Community Safety Officers are unable to investigate unregistered or stolen vehicles. Please report these to SAPOL on ☎ 131 444. The exception is when a vehicle is parked hazardingly or illegally. In this case, please call us on ☎ 8405 6600 to request an officer to attend.

REMEMBER ...

Before you contact us to report an abandoned vehicle, ask yourself: 'Is it really abandoned?' If it is, we're here to help.

WHICH BIN?

Since 2020, SA has generated around 5 million tonnes of waste every year, and food waste makes up about 22% of total kerbside household waste in SA. At PAE we're doing our bit to reduce landfill – but we need your help. Knowing which bin to put your waste in is a good start because it ensures you recycle everything you can. It also prevents you from contaminating the recycling and organics bins with landfill waste. Want to know more? Our website is chock-full of information about how to dispose of your waste correctly.

Can I put clothing and textiles in my yellow recycling bin?

No. If your clothing and textiles are in good wearable/usable condition, please consider donating them. Otherwise please place them in the blue landfill bin.

True or False: Food scraps and used tissues go into the green organics bin.

True. Place all food scraps (including meat and dairy) and used paper towels/tissues into your green bin for composting by the council.

Can I leave plastic lids on plastic bottles and containers when I put them in the yellow recycling bin?

Yes. Simply rinse and swash the bottle, put the lid back on and place it in your yellow bin.

Can I put soft plastics in my yellow recycling bin?

No. Please put soft plastics (e.g. bread bags, chip packets) in your blue general waste bin, to be sent to landfill. We're currently trialling a soft plastics recycling program with a small number of participating households. However, all the available spots on that trial are now full, so unless you've already registered and received your starter kit, please put your soft plastics in your blue bin for now – watch this space for more news as the trial progresses.

SEE IT FOR YOURSELF ON A GUIDED TOUR:

There's nothing quite like seeing recycling happen right in front of you. Bring your school class or community group for a guided tour of CAWRA's recycling plant in Kilburn to see for yourself. Tours are free. Book online  cawra.sa.gov.au
